WELCOME 112 new members!

From the Executive Director

Dear Members,

I'm 46. ACRES is 60. I've not yet experienced what 60 years of existence feels like, let alone 60 years of effort toward the same goal. Sixty years is just the start of ACRES' goal to be here in 600 years and beyond. It's odd but true that ACRES' perpetual mission—its forever intent—relies on us, individuals with limited lifespans. This discrepancy challenges us to think and act in novel ways.

ACRES invites us to invest in things we can't finish. We can initiate protection on new places, and we can sustain care of land ACRES already owns, but we cannot finish the task. I see this daily. We care for ACRES' first property and the 116 others that have followed, we continue conversations that ACRES' founders, volunteers and employees started decades ago and we start conversations and projects we know won't materialize for several more decades, or even generations. We initiate and sustain ACRES' work. We don't complete it.

ACRES thrives with our enthusiastic support. We each bring our passion to ACRES: our own reasons for protecting places, our preferred methods and style. Then ACRES gives us the opportunity to shape collective values. Through member diversity, we take advantage of the many talents, approaches and opinions of people who care about the same end result: protecting land now and forever.

ACRES teaches us how our personal biases can blend with those of others, how our ideas can become stronger and better when we create and experience things collaboratively and when we share and shape ideas together.

ACRES has an attention span longer than our lifespan. We must continually renew the organization. We must inspire younger members so the mission doesn't die with us. Fortunately the land itself provides most of the inspiration. Our role is to introduce people to both the land and the organization, share your enthusiasm and share the places we protect together.

One of the benefits of ACRES' existence is sometimes overlooked: it makes us better people. ACRES challenges us to think beyond ourselves, to recognize our role in forever, to cooperate with others, to grow.

I'm glad ACRES has existed for 60 years. I'm grateful that others created and sustained the organization before I was born. I'm proud of the work we currently are doing together, and I have high hopes for those who will follow us. We make places better, and in the process, we make ourselves better too.

Sincerely,

Jason Kissel

ACRES Land Trust owns and protects natural and working lands, inspiring people to value, appreciate, and support these places for the benefit of all, today and forever. Today, we protect and manage 117 properties totaling 7,230 acres. In addition to helping care for and restore our local land, your support also offers more than 50 trail systems where you and others can explore thriving natural places, from dawn to dusk, at no charge. Thank you!

Moving Forward In Alignment

2018-2019 Strategic Evaluation Findings & Updates

Following a period of unprecedented growth, the ACRES Board of Directors chose to focus the 2018–2019 Strategic Plan on evaluation. This time of reflecting together allowed us to prepare for continued growth. Here’s what we found, and how we’ve responded.

MISSION STATEMENT | What is our purpose?

ACRES founders spelled out, in a detailed half-page statement, how our mission would be achieved. Today, with 60 years of history, the ACRES mission statement has been refreshed to clarify the essentials of our original mission.

ACRES Land Trust owns and protects natural and working lands, inspiring people to value, appreciate, and support these places, for the benefit of all—today and forever.

Words matter. A few worth pondering:

- “Owns” tells how we protect land. ACRES holds the deed to ensure permanent protection. We will never sell or transfer land we promise to protect.
- “Working lands” clarifies that, in addition to natural places, ACRES protects land such as farmland and timber stands. (“Working lands” is not widely understood; your help getting the word out will make a difference.)
- “For the benefit of all” sums up why we protect land and why protecting land works. Vital natural places are critical to the wellbeing of all communities: the lives of humans, plants, and animals are linked. Diverse motivations for protecting natural places and working lands come together, achieving more than we can measure.
- “Today” is an essential prompt to take action. Without your participation right now, natural places existing today have little chance to thrive forever.

LAND MANAGEMENT | Committing to caring for our growing land

ACRES is responsible for caring for more places. Recent growth brought our total protected land from 5,000 acres in 2014 to over 7,000 by 2019. In five years, ACRES total land owned grew 40 percent.

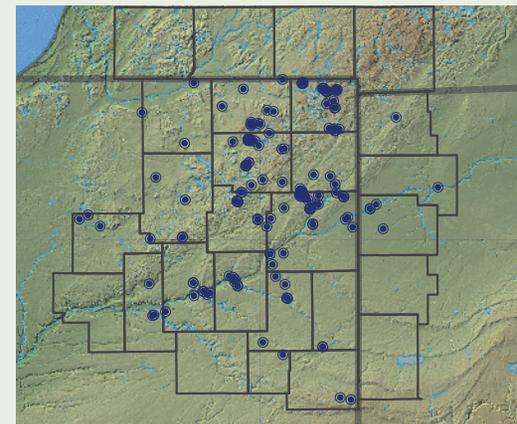

In response to our lands’ growing demands, and making use of Patricia Barrett’s bequest to our land management endowment established by her late husband, Jim Barrett, a founder of ACRES, we added a second full-time field staff position.

In addition, to further bolster land management efforts (especially efficiency in tackling non-native invasive plants), ACRES purchased during this five year period our first-ever heavy equipment: a utility vehicle, a skid steer, a forestry mulcher, a trailer, and a new heavier-capacity truck to haul it all. This equipment brings a tremendous shift in capacity to our work. With your support, ACRES is renewed by these efforts: we are helping our lands heal at a much faster pace.

SERVICE AREA FOCUS | Zooming in

ACRES’ service area was expanded into Cass County, IN, and narrowed to the first counties into Ohio and Michigan. ACRES serves a 27-county area.

ADVANCEMENT | Integrating divisions for focus, expanding for reach

Because ACRES is a marriage of land and the people who value it, we have reorganized into two main divisions: Land Management and Advancement. We protect land, and we serve people who help protect it.

To achieve this focus, ACRES integrated two areas into Advancement: fund development and communications and marketing/outreach; ACRES added a new advancement support position. This shift firmly roots all outreach activities in philanthropy: supporting people in their service to the land.

GOVERNANCE | Making it official

Following decades of declining participation in member voting, and observation of nonprofit trends, the ACRES Board of Directors voted to amend our bylaws and articles of incorporation, switching from a member-governed to a board-governed organization.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE | Dedicating space to serving the land

As the epicenter of a 7,000-acre (and growing) nonprofit serving people in 27 counties, the ACRES office is a hub of activity. After six decades of making do, ACRES is ready to create a modest campus—a headquarters for our work. Giving our work the space it deserves will further clarify our forever promise: ACRES is here to stay, and these lands aren't going to protect themselves.

We are building a new barn for field work; remodeling the Dustin home office for accessibility, customer service, and function; and creating an accessible trail with a Cedar Creek overlook to invite more people to appreciate and enjoy nature's majesty. Plans also include space to welcome land lovers to gatherings—a real home for the folks who are making this work possible, and for those who will join us.

Members, we're grateful to take these actions with your support for a healthy future for our nonprofit, our land, and the people who care for both.

View more on our strategic assessment and action at acreslandtrust.org/plan18. See our next Strategic Plan on page 16.

“We protect land, and we serve people who help protect it.”

Photo spread on pages 8-9 by Thomas Sprunger: Wild geranium, a showy native wildflower common to much of the eastern United States, often blooms from late April into early June in dense, floppy patches in ACRES woodlands. Beginning in early April, spring wildflower displays will transform our woods weekly, reaching peak density in early May, weather depending. Will you explore ACRES' forever-protected places this season?

*From 1960 to Forever,
With Your Support*

To expand our ability to protect and care for land, ACRES aims to grow our most transformative asset: MEMBERSHIP.

MEMBER SUPPORT MAKES ACRES POSSIBLE.

People like you who value land make all the difference, often in unanticipated ways. We look forward to achieving transformative goals with you.

Membership goals: By 2024, grow from 1,700 members to 2,400 members supporting ACRES through membership.

To do this, ACRES will attract new members while keeping the vast majority of today's supporters.

Membership levels are now simplified: $20 annual membership. $500 corporate membership. $1,000 life membership. Any donation of $20 or more counts as a regular membership, making nearly every donor a member. (No more separate annual membership levels for families, individuals or seniors.)

ACRES is taking a leap of faith that the financial loss of $25 and $40 memberships will be more than compensated by both robust support from new members and continued support of members who give beyond their membership dues.

NEW MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

What better way to celebrate 60 years than welcoming more of the community to join us? On pages 10–11, you'll find 60 ways to help celebrate 60 years into forever—a variety of options to help ACRES grow membership, and more.

We've made new cards to help you easily share our mission, website, and contact information with friends and family. You can request a few ACRES "business cards" or brochures to help share ACRES. Our brochure includes a membership form. Call Reena Ramos at 260-637-2273, ext. 9 to request cards or brochures; or order them online at acreslandtrust.org/referral

Celebrate 60 years into forever with ACRES Land Trust!

2020 marks ACRES' 60th Anniversary. Will you help us plant seeds for the next 60 years? Here are a variety of ways to support our growth:

Join Us

- Join as an ACRES member: acreslandtrust.org/join
- Be the first to know—sign up for our newsletter: acreslandtrust.org/newsletter
- Like, follow and engage with ACRES on Facebook and Instagram
- Come to ACRES events: acreslandtrust.org/events/
- Become an ACRES volunteer: acreslandtrust.org/volunteer/

Explore On Your Own

- Take a hike!
- Explore ACRES stories in video: vimeo.com/acreslandtrust
- Plan a road trip to see preserves and towns farther from home
- Find your favorite preserve or place #myACRES
- Get your friends together for a hike and cup of joe
- Visit all open properties in a single county
- Look for every color of the rainbow on the trails and share what you find
- Explore stories on our blog: acreslandtrust.org/blog
- Take your dog for a walk—always on a leash
- Visit a new-to-you preserve
- Take a 20-minute listening hike (shhh! no talking); make a recording and share
- Follow your curiosity: explore birds, trees, flowers, sedges, soils, snakes, snails... then challenge yourself to learn more about your interests
- Explore the Cedar Creek Corridor website: cedarcreek.acreslandtrust.org
- Take a hike in the Cedar Creek Corridor, enjoying its 13.7 miles designated in Indiana's Natural, Scenic and Recreational River System
- Read the Cedar Creek booklet: cedarcreek.acreslandtrust.org/booklet
- Look and listen more closely: What's new? Who made these tracks? Why are so many trees fallen in this preserve? What's growing on that tree?

Give Back to the Land

- Contact Heather Barth at hbarth@acreslandtrust.org or 260-637-2273 ext. 5
- Make a gift to the ACRES fund at your local community foundation
  - Ask your employer to match your ACRES donation
  - Make a gift to ACRES that supports the management and care of land
  - Support ACRES by making a monthly gift: acreslandtrust.org/give
  - Include ACRES in your will
  - Name ACRES as a beneficiary on your investment account or life insurance policy
  - Add a donation to your annual dues payment
  - Make a gift that supports the purchase of new land
  - Talk to your employer about becoming a corporate member

acreslandtrust.org

Create, Express, Be Inspired by the Land

- Create your own ACRES playlist for preserve visits or drives, then share with us
- Tell legislators that local land matters
- Create a short video about why ACRES matters to you. See page 14 for more details.
- Write a poem or short story about what you see in a preserve
- Sketch, draw, color or sculpt a preserve-inspired piece
- Add to your nature or conservation reading list
- When did you first recognize your love of land? Write about it and or thank the people who inspired you
- Create a journal noting natural transitions, wonders and curiosities
- Create a themed photography study and share with us
- Reflect on what protecting land means to you and draft your own land ethic statement
- Consider what a well-nourished ACRES will look like in 2080 (60 years from now)

Work the Land

- Get hands-on preserve experience by participating in a workday
- Donate to a tree planting to help restore preserves
- Pick up litter in the preserves. Share your efforts on social media: #KeepACRESbeautiful
- Work with ACRES to create a preserve workday for your group
- Plant native plants and remove non-native plants from your own land

Share ACRES

- Wear ACRES gear: acreslandtrust.org/shop
- Gift a membership to someone else: acreslandtrust.org/give
- Tell the world—share your support of ACRES on social media
- Bring a friend to an ACRES event
- Share your ACRES adventures on social media and tag #ACRESadventure
- Share ACRES with your group or invite us to speak: Scout, church, service club, garden club, book club, etc.
- Find places to share ACRES brochures, then let us know: rmos@acreslandtrust.org
- Share our Facebook posts, inviting your friends to help us grow
- Encourage a teacher to use ACRES preserves for field trips, study and reflection
- Encourage your workplace to offer an ACRES outing or wellness incentive program
- Host a conservation book discussion with friends and family or group
- Offer the ACRES leaflet or brochures at your place of business
- Request ACRES materials to share (card/brochures/leaflets): acreslandtrust.org/referral
- Encourage another generation—invite an older or younger person to explore trails

SPRING CLEANING

Ready for some fresh air? Rejuvenate yourself—and the preserves. This is a great time of year for a little spring cleaning as plants won't be growing over litter. Gloves, bags, visibility vests and light snacks provided. Bring a friend and take yourselves on a hike afterward!

INDIANA DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES FIELD DAY AT LEE FAMILY PERFECT LAKE NATURE PRESERVE—AN IDNR EVENT

Saturday, May 30, 10 am - noon
 STEUBEN COUNTY | Lee Family Perfect Lake Nature Preserve
 Just north of 6500 S 100 E, Pleasant Lake, Indiana; approximately 1/3 mile north of the intersection of E 700 S; This is a closed preserve; we are parking on a neighbor's land with permission.

Much of this 84-acre property occupies a prominent esker, with vistas over a small lake. Perfect Lake is an undeveloped lake with a marl bottom and healthy aquatic communities, marsh areas, and wetlands, including a high quality fen/sedge meadow/marl flat. There are no trails at the site. Expect soggy conditions. Hike led by State Botanist Scott Namestnik. Limit 20 participants, RSVP online at bit.ly/DNRPerfectLakeHike by May 28.

LEE FAMILY PERFECT LAKE NATURE PRESERVE STATE DEDICATION CEREMONY

Saturday, May 30, 12:15 pm
 STEUBEN COUNTY | Lee Family Perfect Lake Nature Preserve
 Just north of 6500 S 100 E, Pleasant Lake, Indiana; approximately 1/3 mile north of the intersection of E 700 S

Tom Swinford, Assistant Division Director, IDNR Division of Nature Preserves, will join land donor Federal Judge William Lee, in honoring Perfect Lake as Indiana's 289th state-dedicated nature preserve. The designation provides additional protection to this land under the Indiana Nature Preserves Act of 1967. ACRES founders were instrumental in writing and working to pass this act. A brief walk to the pond will conclude the event. This preserve is closed and has no trails. Expect soggy conditions. Read more about Perfect Lake: acreslandtrust.org/perfect

NATIONAL TRAILS DAY HIKE

Saturday, June 6, 10 am
 KOSCIUSKO COUNTY | Wildwood
 409 E SR 14, Silver Lake, IN 46982

Join ACRES on a hike through protected prairie and forest to celebrate National Trails Day!

CALL FOR SUBMISSION:

Will you create a short video on why you value ACRES?

Why do you support ACRES in protecting your local land? We want to see and hear your story! Don't worry, no professional skills needed to participate! ACRES is looking for simple, honest storytelling with no fuss about it. Your video may make it on our website or Facebook page to show why folks like you support land protection!

Learn how to submit your video and see simple tips at acreslandtrust.org/video

ACRES Invites You to Help Expand Our Headquarters

After 60 years, it's time! ACRES Land Trust is launching a Capital Campaign to help build a barn and renovate the home it uses as an office. Your investment will help care for our expanding acreage, following a period of 50 percent growth in the land we own and protect together.

"We're protecting more land than ever and we've simply run out of room to work," says Jason Kissel, Executive Director. "To restore and manage land, we need space for our equipment and projects. We also need site and office improvements for efficiency, customer service and accessibility for our growing business and for our members."

"After 60 years of making do, running the organization out of people's homes, finally investing in proper workspaces is prudent and long overdue," adds Kissel.

Learn more about our plans for growth and how you can help at acreslandtrust.org/grow.

What will your legacy be?

Your planned gift ensures natural places and working lands thrive today and for future generations, forever.

Planned gifts give ACRES Land Trust the resources to plan for the future. By making your plans known to ACRES, you will become a named or anonymous member of the Acorn Society.

Speaking with us today clarifies your goals and options, giving you the assurance that your wishes are understood and will be met.

Planned gifts take many forms: bequests by will or living trust; retirement assets such as 401(k) plans; real estate; life insurance and more.

We welcome the opportunity to discuss planned giving with you. Please contact Advancement Director Heather Barth: 260-637-2273, ext. 5 or hbarth@acreslandtrust.org

MISSION

ACRES Land Trust owns and protects natural and working lands, inspiring people to value, appreciate, and support these places for the benefit of all—today and forever.

EMPHASIS OF STRATEGIC PLAN: Increase overall capacity of the organization in order to increase the amount of land acquired each year and expand the care of existing land.

Strategies and Associated Goals Grow ACRES Capacity by:

- Increasing number of members from 1,700 to 2,400

Overall Income

- Expanding planned giving program, The Acorn Society, from 30 participants to 100 (see more on page 14)
- Acquiring more working lands as an additional source of income
- Reaching new corporate donors/sponsors
- Growing endowment from $4.1 million to $5 million

Relationships

- Strengthening and adding relationships with state and federally-elected officials
- Building new relationships with partner organizations

General Awareness

- Expanding awareness of our mission through 60th anniversary celebration
- Improving on-site communication
- Acquiring an additional 1,000 acres of land
- Controlling invasives on 1,000 acres
- Standardizing care of visitor amenities
- Restoring 250 acres
- Increasing volunteer engagement

ACQUISITION

PROPERTY	ACRES	COUNTY	NOTE
Quog Lake	12	LaGrange (IN)	Brings preserve total to 138 acres
Sauga Swamp	16	Noble (IN)	Brings preserve total to 82 acres
Phil and Jean Ross Preserve	23	Huntington (IN)	A growing 373-acre corridor
Eby Bog	23	Elkhart (IN)

TOTAL ACQUIRED 74 acres added in newly acquired places

PEOPLE PARTICIPATING

- 8 Staff members
- 18 Board members
- 169 Volunteers giving 2,000+ hours
- 1,708 Members
- 6,271 Facebook followers
- 30,000 Estimated preserve visitors

CARING FOR LAND

- 433 Acres of invasive plant control
- 55,000 Trees planted
- 50 Trail systems maintained
- 115 Properties maintained and protected

HIGHLIGHTS

- ACRES acquired the 25-acre Elkhart Bog (not to be confused with the Eby Bog expansion) to hold temporarily on behalf of the Department of Natural Resources.
- Our tree planting news was picked up by the Associated Press and printed in newspapers nationwide. Dana Myers (who, with her husband, Duane, donated Walter H. and E. Marie Myers Nature Preserve on Flowers Creek where we planted the majority of the trees) was delighted to hear from her children in California and Chicago that they saw news of their family lands in their local newspaper.
- With support from the Olive B. Cole Foundation and Manchester University, ACRES hired four summer interns to bolster land management during the growing season.
- Reena Ramos (former ACRES summer intern) joined our team in a new position as an Advancement Coordinator, supporting our growth.
- At our Home and Garden show booth and at outings all year long, more visitors and acquaintances than ever before said, "Yes, yes! I do know about ACRES!"
